

Two Irma Old-Timers Pass Away in Edmonton

Both Funerals Held in Irma For Highly Respected Pioneers

Mrs. M. Arnold

One of our most highly regarded pioneers, Mrs. Margery Arnold, passed away at her home in Edmonton on Wednesday, November 1.

Mrs. Arnold, the former Margery McNaughton, was born in Lancaster, Ont., in 1881. She came to Irma in May 1910 and was united in marriage to Grover Arnold in 1914.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold made their home in the Avonfield district until 1932 when Mr. Arnold passed away in January of that year. Mrs. Arnold with the three daughters, then took up residence in Irma, where she continued to live until moving to Edmonton in 1946.

So for 36 years in all Mrs. Arnold lived in the Irma district and 36 busier or more useful years it would be difficult to imagine. She was an active member in the WMS, the Ladies Aid, the Red Cross, the W.I., a member of the Eastern Star Connaught Chap. No. 8, a member of the local school board, an elder in the United Church, a Sunday School teacher and a choir member.

Busy as she was, her own affairs seemed always in order and her home always open to friends or to be used for the meetings of various organizations. Her generosity and thoughtfulness were always able for the second mile. Her living example of practical Christianity will long be remembered here.

Funeral services were held from the Irma United Church on Saturday, November 4 with the Rev. H. W. Inglis in charge. Mr. Inglis pointed out that her life work of one such as Mrs. Arnold is woven into the life of our community and continues to influence and bless.

The hymns "Still, Still with Thee" and "O Love that Will not let Me Go" were sung. The ladies choir sang "Deep in the Heart of God."

The pall bearers were Messrs. J. Fletcher, R. McFarland, C. Currie, M. McMillan, B. Oldham, H. Oldham.

She leaves to mourn her loss three daughters, Mrs. Arthur Larson of Winnipeg; Mrs. R. H. Simmermon of Edmonton and Edna at home. Two sisters, Mrs. McCartney of Irma and Miss Catherine McNaughton of Lancaster, Ont., also three brothers, John of Prince Rupert, B.C., Peter of Lancaster and Don of Hammond, B.C.

Interment was made in the Irma cemetery.

A quiet wedding was solemnized in the United Church, Camrose, on Wednesday, November 1, when Phebe Rosalind (Toots), oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lew Reber of Rosalind, Alta., became the bride of Robert Elroy Reed, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Reed of Camrose, Alta.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white satin. A cameo heart shaped locket was her only jewelry, a gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

The bride's sister, Florence Reber, was bridesmaid, wearing a gown of floor length blue taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink carnations centered with a pink rose. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, gift of the groom.

Mr. Keith Reed of Camrose, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Reber chose a grey crepe afternoon frock with navy accessories. A corsage of red roses completed her ensemble.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

HIGH TIME, HIGH FASHION

By Bertha Zeld Beck

BILL wanted to push his way through the mob on the floor and take Kitty into his arms and make her say she'd marry him. The band was working on a rumba and the air rocked in rhythm. Kitty wore one of those off-shoulder strapless gowns. She was dancing with a guy named Edward.

Kitty was really a nice, sensible, serious-minded girl. She hadn't believed him when he had proposed last night. How did a fellow get a girl to say yes?

One of Bill's friends, with a sister on his arm, was bearing down with intentions. Bill strode dodged and cut in on Edward.

"Oh," Kitty said. "You."

"Surprised?"

"Deighted!" There was the old note of anger. She stiffened, drew away, and for the first time he really noticed her dress.

"What makes it stay up?" he said.

"What makes what stay up?"

"The dress—on you."

"It's wired."

"Wired—for sound?"

"Bill!" The fresh pink in her cheeks was anger again.

"I'm sorry. I didn't mean—"

"Of course not."

The trombone wailed and Bill started out over the heads of the dancers.

"You thought I was acting—last night, did you, Kit?"

"Oh, no! You couldn't act, not you, Bill. The serious young man, acting? Coming up to me, out of the clear air, in the park, frightening the dog I was walking, and saying in your polite voice, 'Kitty, will you marry me?'"

"And the answer?"

"Still the same." She kept her face averted.

"All right, I have nothing to lose. I'm going to tell you just what I think of you."

"You wouldn't dare."

"That dress you're wearing..."

"Leave my dress out of this!"

Bill forgot to be gentle. He forgot everything except her anger and his love.

"If I had a wish, I'd wish that the thing that makes the wire stay up would go."

"To die?"

"Not before I could tell you I loved you. I wouldn't let you die that fast! You are a potential power—for destruction."

"I never..."

"Or for good. I'd prefer the destruction, since you were going to die on my hands anyhow, with that thing down and everybody calling it high fashion! Like pictures showing how little girls will be wearing next year!"

She was glaring at him. "The wire is guaranteed not to come down until it's unhooked." She shrugged her shoulders vehemently. The strapless thing that had seemed so provokingly perfect was suddenly no longer perfect. The hook and eye—

She could feel the broken point eye pricking her skin. She could feel the tears mounting.

She leaned close. "I wouldn't marry you if the whole world—Oh, Bill, what will I do?"

"Kit," he said gently. "What do you want me to do?"

"You always make me so unhappy. I could..."

"Kit," he said, his voice firm for the first time with her, as firm as it was with everyone else. "Listen closely. It's high time I treated you like a human being, and not like a china doll the way I have, off my nut with loving you. Your gown is high fashion. You are going to take my arm, as soon as this dance ends, and we are going to walk to the lounge where you'll get the matron to sew you together. If you keep your temper, your dress will stay up. But if you let yourself go, I'll be right behind you, ready to signal a photographer."

The lights were dim now. "You're beautiful," he whispered. "And I love you. Are you listening?"

"Yes."

He kicked her off the floor then, and held her so close she could hardly breathe. She kicked and one of her toeless, strapless shoes fell off. "Let me down!"

He kissed her firmly on the lips, and he forgot to be gentle. He forgot everything except her anger and his love.

His shadow had not expected her kiss. He put her back on her feet. "You shouldn't have done that," he said. "You'll never be the same again."

She was clinging to him. "And you?"

"How can a fellow be the same when there's high fashion and a girl's wired and there's a short? Go get yourself sewed together. And I'm not taking no for an answer. It's high time..."

It was and she gave it to him.

"Yes."

Canada's Honey Crop Shows Drop

OTTAWA.—Canada's honey crop totalled 30,717,000 pounds, below average, this year, due mainly to a decline in average production for each colony, the bureau of statistics reported.

The 1949 crop was 33,204,000. Average production in the five years, 1945-49, was 34,326,000 pounds. Average yield for each colony fell from 66 pounds to 61 pounds.

In Manitoba, however, the honey crop stood at 6,282,000 pounds against 5,586,000 in 1949.

Rumor Of Army Buttons Being Concentrated Food

CHURCHILL, Man.—There'll be some cracked teeth and aching tummies if the army at Fort Churchill tests the latest rumor.

New parkas issued this year have nine white buttons. The rumor has it that they're concentrated food—that one button makes a meal and the nine will keep a man going three days.

But it's just an idle rumor, says prairie command headquarters at Winnipeg.

The buttons are really made of bone.

The Armistice service will be held in the Kinsella United Church Sunday November 12 at 1:30 p.m. under the auspices of the Kinsella branch of the Canadian Legion and all Legion members are requested to Fall In at 13:15 hours, wearing of medals is optional. The twenty fifth anniversary of the Kinsella United Church was held on Sunday, November 5. The Rev. F. During the service the song "Bless this House" was sung by Mr. Bob Forster. The Rev. F. Forster officiated.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Elliott of Abbotsford, B.C., (the former Margaret Lockhart), on Oct. 21, a son William Lorne, weight 9 lbs., 2 oz.

Mrs. Gerald Scott is a patient in the Royal Alex Hospital.

Best wishes are extended to Mr. and Mrs. George Tindall, the former Miss Betty Funk, whose wedding took place last week. We would appreciate an account of this wedding for the Times. The high winds of last week-end seem to have cut off telephone communications but perhaps some one will kindly write it up and send it in.

Mr. Wm. Masson was injured last week in a car accident in the city. A car tried to pass on the wrong side and caught the bumper of Mr. Masson's car. Mr. Masson suffered some broken ribs and a few cuts and bruises, but after two days in hospital he was able to return to his home here. The damage to the Masson car was not extensive.

L.O.B.A. MASQUERADE DANCE A HUGE SUCCESS

The Hallowe'en dance in Kelfer's hall, sponsored by the L.O.B.A. provided an enjoyable time for about seventy couples, mostly local people.

About twenty were in costume, prizes went to the following:-

Best Dressed couple—Eddie Jackson and Mrs. Roy Reber as Robin Hood and Mother Goose; Best Dressed person—Eddie Jackson; Funniest Dressed person—Eldred Fenton as a Minstrel; Best Home-made Man's Costume—Eldred Fenton; Best Home-made Ladies' Costume—The three Barton sisters, Grace Pascha and Mary Szoke as the Dionne Quintuplets.

Everyone seemed to enjoy themselves and are looking forward to the next masquerade when it is hoped that many more will compete for the prizes.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Symington, Mrs. Donald Gunn and Charlie Milne were the judges and everyone agreed that they did an excellent job in placing the winners.

Miss Dorothy Larson, a bride of next week attended showers in her home on three successive nights this week. Shower No. 1 at Mrs. R. A. McFarland's; shower No. 2 at the Albert School and shower No. 3 at Mrs. W. Symingtons.

Mrs. Ross McFarland returned to Irma last week after visiting in Winnipeg with her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. H. Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. M. MacMillan and Mr. J. Fletcher came from Edmonton last week to attend the funeral services of the late Mrs. Arnold.

Mr. D. McCready of Jasper, first CN agent at Irma who homesteaded here with the late Grover Arnold in 1908, was also among those who came to pay their last respects to Mrs. Arnold.

The new street which is a continuation in a westerly direction of the one on which the Catholic Church is situated, is fast becoming built up. Two new buildings were added on Monday when Mr. Halvorson moved his garage onto the Roy Miles property and Gerald Allen moved in the house he has purchased from Wm. Blades.

Household Hints

Double the life of plain window curtains by making top and bottom hems the same width. The curtains can then be reversed after each laundering.

Mount a mouse trap on the workroom wall. Makes an ideal clip for hanging cloths or work gloves.

Household plants ailing? Put several empty egg shells into a milk bottle filled with water. Let stand for a day. Then water plants with this mixture.

Stomach enemy No. 1 is over-fatigue. Hurry and fuss at day's beginning can upset the stomach. Persons returning from work very tired should drink a glass of water and lie down for about 20 minutes before their evening meal.

Renew your cedar chest when the protective odor becomes too faint by rubbing the inside surface lightly with a piece of sandpaper. Friction opens up new wood surface, which releases the distinctive cedar odor.

For less handling and easier selection of phonograph records, show both titles of record on each side, using gummed labels.

To retain fluffiness of chenille or candlewick bedspreads hang 'em double and wrong side out when drying. Tufts will rub together and remain fluffy.
